

89th Carolinas Amateur
Chechessee Creek Golf Club
Okatie, South Carolina
July 9-13, 2003
Champion: Emmett Turner,
Greenwood, S.C.

When Emmett Turner read the names Billy Joe Patton, P.J. Boatwright Jr., Harvie Ward, Chip Beck, Charles Warren and Jonathan Byrd on the Carolinas Amateur trophy he said, "It's nice to have my name on the same trophy. I think I am an above average match player, and this helps."

Turner, a 20-year-old Augusta State collegian, is not bad at stroke play either. He won the Carolinas Amateur qualifying medal by one shot.

His longest match (other than the 35-hole final) was his opening match that went 18 holes.

The final match pitted Turner, the 2000 CGA South Carolina Junior champion, against Matt O'Quinn, who won that same junior title in 1992. Turner led by three holes after the morning 18. He led by four holes before O'Quinn rallied with wins at the 30th and 33rd holes, both from birdies.

Above left: Emmett Turner won the qualifying medal by one shot and then the title with a 2 and 1 victory over Matt O'Quinn. Above right: Chechessee Creek Golf Club is an exquisite Low Country design. Pictured here is the par-three seventh hole. Below left: The approach to the 18th hole. Below right: David Strawn was runner-up in the 1973 U.S. Amateur. Thirty years later, he gained the semifinal round of the Carolinas Amateur, bowing to O'Quinn, 3 and 2.
