

7th Carolinas Women's Senior Country Club of Orangeburg Orangeburg, SC April 12-13, 2005 Champion: Carole Jones Hillsborough, NC

Carole Jones beamed with excitement and a little shock as she captured her first CGA title by one-stroke over defending champion Patty Moore and Melissa Sage of Charlotte, NC. Jones started out strong by making birdie on the first hole. "I have only played two rounds of golf since October, I usually like to take the winter off, I still can't believe I won!" The 60 year old computer consultant went on to birdie eleven and twelve but a double-bogey on the fourteenth hole made her feel as though the tournament was slipping away. She managed to par her last three holes to hang onto the championship crown. "I just played steady golf today. I don't have many goals anymore, I just try to go out there and have a good time." While giving her acceptance speech, Jones seemed shocked by what she had just accomplished but very excited about her game in the year ahead. Jones went on to qualify for the U.S. Women's Senior Championship, the Carolinas-Virginias women's team matches and finished high in many championships the rest of the year. She knows this major championship early on in the year gave her the confidence she had been searching for. In the Super Senior division, Mary Rotan of Leesville, SC won over defending champion, Jessie Finucan, by two-strokes. Players in the Super Senior division play a shorter course.

Clockwise from left: Mary Rotan of Leesville, SC won the Super Senior division by 2-shots. Karen Ferree was the Carolinas Women Senior champion in 2003. The 18th hole at the CC of Orangeburg is a long par-5 with water in front of the green. It proved to be the pivotal hole of the championship. Defending champion, Patty Moore of Charlotte, NC watches her drive on the second hole. She finished one-shot back.
