

10th Carolinas Women's Match Play
Cowans Ford Country Club
Stanley, NC
July 10-12, 2007
Champion: Patty Moore
Charlotte, NC

The chatter among the membership at Cowans Ford Country Club prior to the beginning of the semifinal matches was that Patty Moore of Charlotte, NC would have her hands full when she would face local favorite, Chris Brady of Stanley, NC. Unfortunately for Brady, 57-year-old Patty Moore silenced that chatter when she went on into the finals by defeating Brady by a 4 & 3 margin. The match seemed to be pretty close through the first nine holes when Brady chipped in from off the green to take the match to all square but Moore made a great birdie putt on #10 to go 1 up. That birdie putt would prove to be the momentum shift that Moore needed to seal the deal and head on into the finals.

Moore would move on to face University of South Carolina Sophomore Taylor Barrett of York, SC. Just as in the semifinal match, Moore never had a bogey. "I really think not having any bogeys all day really helped me win. I was pretty much putting for birdie on every hole which was a big plus against my opponents."

Moore, who is a retired P.E. teacher from Texas, has won many CGA championships, but never won Carolinas Women's Match Play. "I am a tough old bird," stated Moore, "I must admit this is pretty fun for me and it feels great to still be so competitive against these young girls."
