

About the One-Day Series Championships (Formerly Tournament of Champions)

The One-Day Series Championships culminate in a season-long points competition in which players accumulate points based on their individual finish in CGA One-Day Tournaments or team finish in CGA One-Day Four-Ball Tournaments.

Every player or every team at every One-Day Tournament (individual & four-ball) will earn points in the One-Day Series Points List based on their gross or net finish in their respective tournament, flight, or division. Individual Points will be awarded and team points will be awarded to both players. All points will be combined to determine the player's individual standing in the One-Day Series Points List. Players may play in any division they are eligible and earn points. Players may play with any partner in any of the One-Day Four-Ball Tournaments and earn points toward their individual standing.

Points Distribution

Players will receive points based on individual or team finish in CGA One-Day Tournaments. Points will be awarded to all players or teams in each flight based on gross and net finishes. Players and teams will only receive points for their gross OR net finish.

One-Day Series Championship

At the end of the One-Day Series regular season, top-ranked players in the One-Day Series Points List will be invited to the One-Day Series Championships. The One-Day Series Championships will have two different tournaments. Day one will be an 18-hole Individual Tournament using both gross and net scores, and day two will be an 18-hole Four-Ball Tournament using both gross and net scores. These events will replace the Tournament of Champions.

The One-Day Series Championships will be split into two courses each hosting 18-hole events with 208 players on day one (104 at each course) and 104 total teams on day two (52 teams at each course). Players and teams will be assigned to courses after the close of entries.

Top-ranked players and top-ranked teams that register in each tournament will earn entry to their respective One-Day Series Championships based on the number of spots available. The team ranking is determined by combined individual ranking. For example, if Player A is ranked 65th and Player B is ranked 12th, their combined standing is 38.5, which would guarantee that team a spot in the tournament. Players and teams of all rankings are encouraged to register.

Players and teams will register for their respective One-Day Series Championship in a 1-week registration window. At the end of the registration window, the top-ranked individual players will determine the field of 208 players in the Individual Series Championship. Combined individual standings will be used to determine team standings and the top 104 ranked teams that registered will gain entry to the Four-Ball Series Championship. If registration is not full, the tournaments will re-open for additional entries.

The One-Day Series Championships will be played December 14-15 at Caledonia & True Blue. December 14 will be the One-Day Individual Series Championships and December 15 will be the One-Day Four-Ball Series Championships.

Course assignments will be made after entries close.

The Tournament of Champions has been discontinued and the One-Day Series Championships will be the only year-end event for the One-Day Tournament program.
